

St George's Day award recipients 2012

ROLL OF HONOUR

scouts.org.uk

Inspiring. Supporting. Motivating.

We know it's not the institution of Scouting that changes young people's lives and improves the communities in which we live.

It's our leaders, managers and supporters, who volunteer their time to achieve this.

We endeavour to ensure that all recipients are listed. If you do not see your name listed, please contact the Awards Department at Gilwell Park. Call 020 8433 7193 or email lynda.gray@scouts.org.uk

Overcoming adversity and helping others are very much part of our DNA. The young people and adults receiving a gallantry or meritorious award in the annual St George's Day awards ceremony are a particularly special group. Chatting to them at Windsor, where they join the other recipients, or at their presentations, I'm always truly inspired and humbled by the modest way in which many of them describe what they got up to.

Such stories demonstrate the value of what we do and the difference we make to the lives of others. We know that Scouting is fantastic, and it's great that we are receiving increasing recognition of this. Through our continued growth, and through things like the independent study into the impact of Scouting (www.scouts.org.uk/impactstudy) or the decision by the Duchess of Cambridge to join us as a volunteer, we've had a fantastic start to our year.

In reality, however, we know it's not the institution of Scouting that changes young people's lives and improves the communities in which we live. It's our leaders, managers and supporters, who volunteer their time to achieve this. Through their incredible commitment and dedication, they help to ensure that young people have a great time and benefit so much either from what they do or the support they give to others.

It's a privilege to have this opportunity to say a very big "well done and thank you" to everybody, especially to those whose exceptional service and dedication is recognised in this year's St George's Day awards.

Silver wolf

'In recognition of services to Scouting of the most exceptional nature'

The silver wolf award was introduced by Lord Baden-Powell and remains The Scout Association's highest award for service to Scouting.

The silver wolf is the unrestricted gift of the chief scout and is only awarded 'for service of an exceptional nature.' It is not normally awarded until at least a silver acorn has been gained. In practice, this means that it is seldom awarded for less than 30 years' service, although this is not always the case.

Silver acorn

'In recognition of especially distinguished service'

The silver acorn was first introduced as a St George's day award in 1933. It is not normally awarded until after at least the award for merit has been gained and a further five years' service has been completed. It is therefore seldom awarded for less than 20 years' service.

Mark Critchley – Silver acorn

'It is nice to get a pat on the back every now and then. Everyone wants and needs recognition. It's especially important if it relates to something that plays a large part in your life. I consider the award to be recognition for my scout group and its long (over 50 years) service to the young people of our town.

I would like to dedicate a part of this award to all the scouters who have helped and inspired me over the years. I started as a cub scout in Allerton in Liverpool. I later became a leader in Maghull due to my brother joining the local scout group, the scout leader told him we would be looking at rucksacks. My brother piped up with, "My brother has a rucksack." The scout leader replied, "Well, ask him to come along next week and show it to us." That was it... nearly 30 years ago I came to scouts for one evening to show them my rucksack and never left.'

Peter Alastair Philp – Silver acorn

'It's an honour to receive the award. I've been a scout leader for donkey's years, and I still find it inspiring. I've been requested several times to be the district commissioner but I like to work at a grassroots level, working directly with the children and seeing the difference Scouting makes. I joined as a scout in the small town where I lived. Scouting broadened my horizons and my own children were members.'

Good service awards

Applications for good service can be submitted at any time of the year and if approved, the chief scout's commendation for good service, award for merit and its bar are awarded usually within six weeks of application being received.

Applications for the silver wolf, silver acorn and its bar are usually considered for inclusion in the St George's Day awards list, although they can be requested 'out of season' given exceptional circumstances.

Nominations that are made by headquarters for members of staff or some county/area appointments for their service to Scouting occur once a year within the St George's Day awards.

Bar to the award for merit

'In recognition of further outstanding service'

This particular award is given after the award for merit has been gained and a further five years' outstanding service completed.

County:

Although in some parts of the British Isles Scout Counties are known as Areas or Islands - and in one case Bailiwick - for ease of reading this publication simply refers to County/Counties. In Scotland there is no direct equivalent to County or Area. In Scotland, Scouting is organised into Districts and Regions, each with distinct responsibilities. Some 'County' functions are the responsibility of Scottish Regions, whilst others lie with Scottish Districts. The focus of responsibility is outlined in Scottish variations from POR
