How do we review activities?

Members are told that an activity is being reviewed (through Scouting+) and a survey is available for feedback to be provided. One month later the data is pulled from the survey. You can also feedback any activity, any time by emailing activities@scouts.org.uk.

The feedback provided by members is combined with feedback from the UK Technical Adviser (UKTA), other areas of The Scout Association, the National Governing Bodies (NGBs) and other stakeholders.

If major changes are suggested further consultation will take place, giving members the opportunity to feedback.

All feedback is reviewed in consultation with UKTAs, other areas of The Scout Association, the National Governing Bodies (NGBs) and other stakeholders.

The Adventure Programme Team and Programme Core Team then recommend rule changes to Operations Committee and schedule updates and improvements.

All updates go through a 'pre-launch check' phase prior to being launched. This is usually in November/December for a January launch and to make sure that members are aware and we can support those who need to make changes.

FAQs

Why are we using an infographic to feedback information?

We want members to be honest in their feedback, and so we treat it with confidence, meaning we won't release full statements, or the raw data. The infographic is aimed at giving everyone an overview of the following things:

- How many permit holders and assessors we have for the activity
- The feedback members gave, especially trends and consensus
- How we have acted on the feedback.

Why does the feedback not match the actions sometimes?

Sometimes for safety reasons, or because of other advice we've received, the feedback from members and actions do not match perfectly. When this is the case we have created a separate graphic to explain the process and reasons for the actions ultimately agreed upon.

What do the colours next to the permit and assessor numbers represent?

These are a quick traffic light on how we are going with permit holders and assessor appointments. These are based on:

- Green – equivalent of one assessor/two permit holders+ per County
- Orange - equivalent of one assessor per two Counties/ one permit holder per County
- Red – equivalent of less than one assessor/permit holder per two Counties

This is a generic scale and for some activities orange/red may not indicate a problem, but it can be used as a guide for Counties. We also use this to determine what support might be needed to grow an activity.

I want to make a suggestion on how to improve communications of activities reviews/this infographic, how can I do this?

Send an email to activities@scouts.org.uk – we are looking for solutions so please include specifics about how, when and what you would like communicated. Make the subject line: 'Review communications' so that it gets to the right person.
